Originally constructed in the early 1920s as a four-story Hudson Motor Car Company fabrication plant, 2400 Market Street was adaptively reused and reimagined as a mixed-use office building. Now home to Aramark's corporate headquarters and a vibrant part of Center City's riverfront renewal, the property's fresh design incorporates innovation and sustainability. Vertically expanded to nine stories, the structure has been re-clad in a modern façade of glass and metal accented with wood grain finishes.
